ACI Team Captures $17M Guam Depot Contract

RIVERSIDE, Mo. – Accent Controls, Inc. (ACI) and EAS Logistics, a joint venture formed by Eagle Support Services and Agility Defense & Government Services (DGS), have won a contract to manage the Defense Distribution Depot Guam, Marianas (DDGM), the two companies announced today.

The five-year contract, worth $17 million, was awarded May 1, 2009 by the Defense Distribution Center, New Cumberland, Pa.

Accent Controls Inc. (ACI), based in Riverside, Mo., will be the prime contractor providing program management and ISO certifications in Quality, Safety and Environmental protection.

EAS Logistics will act as a subcontractor, providing warehousing, distribution and management services.

DDGM is one of 25 U.S. Department of Defense distribution centers worldwide. It provides distribution-support services, including receipt, storage, issue and trans-shipment of supplies for the U.S. military on Guam. The facility provides additional surge-capacity services to all four branches of the military operating under U.S. Pacific Command.

The experience and performance of the ACI Team provides DDGM with the ideal suite of capabilities to meet the emerging anticipations of military buildup on Guam,” says Mary Janiak, President of ACI. “Our overarching goal is to achieve supply chain services that promote the DLA brand as a superior logistics provider for all customers. We look forward to providing DDGM with smart solutions for distribution services that are on time – every time.

“This contract is a perfect fit for us. Agility DGS has a substantial and growing presence on Guam, and we own and operate the world-class defense distribution depot in Kuwait,” said Dan Mongeon, president and CEO of Agility DGS. “When you combine our local knowledge and depot experience with ACI’s exceptional record of performance for defense customers, you get a team that has a lot to offer DDGM.”
